WASHINGTON (AP)—In statistics and testimony the broad picture of strikes and slowdowns harassing the man-in-space and missile programs is taking form in a Senate investigation.

The figures are not disputed—327 strikes at 22 missile bases, 109 of them at Cape Canaveral alone. Also undisputed is the total overall loss of time figured at 162,872 man days in 4½ years.

Accuse Reds Of Stalling Negotiations

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government accused the Pathet Lao rebels Sunday of stalling on cease-fire talks. The pro-Communist rebels charged the government with bad faith.

As maneuvers aimed at solidifying the shaky truce in Laos degenerated into a verbal tug of war, there was some hope that the presence of the international truce commission might create pressure to speed up the talks. Due here Monday, the commission's official task is only to find out whether the military cease-fire ordered last Wednesday is genuine.

Prince Boum Oum, premier of the pro-Western government, went on the radio Sunday to accuse the rebels of holding up negotiations by not sending officers of high enough rank to work out cease-fire details.

Leave For Front

A government military delegation headed by a brigadier general went by helicopter 55 miles north of Vientiane Sunday morning to the cease-fire line at Hin Heup. They flew back immediately when told only a Pathet Lao major was waiting to receive them on the opposite bank of the Nam Lik River.

A spokesman for the government delegation said no further meetings were planned, although contact was continuing and more proposals were likely.

The true commission, composed of India, Canada and Poland, left New Delhi Sunday morning for Saigon, South Vietnam, where it will transfer to smaller planes able to land on the small-scale airfields in Vientiane.

Peiping radio meanwhile reported that the Communists were going ahead with preparations for the Geneva conference.

Twisters, Floods Ravage Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Punishing tornadoes and flash floods took a heavy toll in lives and property from the Plains to the Ohio Valley Sunday.

Twisters struck four Arkansas communities before dawn, killing four persons and injuring at least six others. A flash flood that battered the Arkansas town of Harrison claimed two more lives.

Other tornadoes in Missouri, Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma injured at least 26 other persons. Floods and swollen streams also plagued Missouri, Kansas, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky.

The death toll from weekend tornadoes and floods rose to 28.

Damaging winds, hail and rain ranged over a broad area.

One tornado struck Wyandotte County, Kansas, adjacent to Kansas City, injuring at least 18 persons and damaging 40 to 50 houses. One person was listed as missing.

Twisters slammed through the Arkansas communities of Mid-

Tumultuous Welcome Awaits

Shepard At Washington Today

Hero Is Living A Life Of Ease On Sunny Isle

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP) — His health "disgustingly normal," spaceman Alan B. Shepard Jr. relaxed this sunny day in walking, talking and resting before flying to a hero's welcome in Washington Monday.

They said it took them and Canaveral officials nearly a full day to learn who called the strike and to locate union officials with whom to negotiate for a settlement.

Open Strikes

Col. Robert M. Creech, chief of Canaveral's test site operations, swore many strikes were called openly to force the payment of overtime that swelled wages of plumbers and electricians to as high as $800 a week.

Maj. Gen. William T. Thurman, deputy Air Force chief of staff, said the Pentagon is deeply concerned over strike-caused delays and the millions of dollars he said these upsets added to the cost of projects.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appealed to unions to halt missile base strikes for any reason.

"I think all of the parties concerned should be given an opportunity to express their views on this delicate matter before any action is taken by the legislature," Bloom said in an interview.

B. G. MacNabb, operations chief of Canaveral for Convair in producing the Atlas missile, testified the whole space fight-missile program is six months behind. He blamed strikes, low production by workers and slow decision-making by the government and industry for this.

Success In Space

A 5,100-mile-per-hour ride which carried Astronaut Alan B. Shepard 115 miles into space demonstrated in full view of the whole world that America's progress in the field of space exploration has kept pace with that of the Soviet Union.

Despite the tremendous lead Russia gained with the aid of captured German rocket experts at the close of World War Two, we can be certain this country has made great strides with its own missile program during the past decade.

In fact, when the entire history of rocketry is written, our scientific discoveries and developments to date may prove to be more important in the overall picture than has Russia's even with her ability to orbit greater payloads than we have yet been able to achieve.

In the field of man-in-space rocketry, the Soviets claim to have brought a man back safely after orbiting him around the earth in space. If true, this feat culminated more than five years of man-in-space preparation.

By contrast, our own Mercury Redstone program as such was developed in only 30 months, just half the time it took Russia to claim success. To repeat, we have made great strides with our missiles—and we have shared openly the news of our launching attempts with the rest of the world while Russia speaks only for her successes.

The pioneering spirit which made this country great down through its history was exemplified anew by Spaceman Shepard and all the astronauts and scientists connected with last Friday's adventurous flight.

It is this spirit of wanting to be first that we must keep alive if we are to meet the challenges that Russia poses in her ever-widening struggle to gain world domination.

So, let us not bask in the glory of one successful man-in-space flight, let us not become more complacent than we have been in the past. We can be sure that last Friday, if not before, Russia stepped up her own space program in a determined effort to widen whatever gap that may exist to her advantage. We must redouble our own efforts if we are to achieve total success.

Opinions Of Other Editors

How Do You Tally A 'Si'?

As the State Department aptly put it, Fidel Castro has gone the other members of the Communist bloc one better.

While even the Soviet Union goes through the motions of having elections—although the Russian voter has no real choice—Castro declares blandly that elections are not necessary. At any rate he made it clear that he has no intention of holding any.

That the promise of free elections eased his way to power and popularity in Cuba two years ago is conveniently forgotten. Instead, Castro offers a substitute for the ballot—mass meetings reminiscent of the rallies of Hitler and Mussolini where the people, under the watchful eyes and ears of the party, roar their "spontaneous" approval of the leader's policies.

"The Cuban," the State Department comments, "has but one choice, namely to say 'si,' and even that not in a duly constituted election . . . The average Cuban is in trouble if he so much as shrugs his shoulders."

One way or another, in good time, there will be free elections in Cuba again. Meanwhile, Castro's contempt for democratic procedures finally appears to have made other Latin Americans uneasy about the "Socialist" revolution in Cuba. The arrogant rejection of any election, the basis of freedom, is something everybody can understand.

The irony is that Castro probably could have won a free and regular election any time he chose. That he dare not accept the challenge of the ballot box well may speed his downfall as much as anything else.

The Cuban people had to say "si" to Batista. Castro succeeded because the people were tired of it. That was the lesson of Batista's overthrow. Some day the Cubans will repeat the lesson and drive it home.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Cuba Will Not Die

No matter what is done to quiet the discussion of the Cuban Fiasco, the discussion of Cuba will not die down. Whenever one goes, the discussion is about Cuba. There is a sense of shame. There is chagrin. There is hopelessness.

No nation is willing to accept such a defeat as the United States suffered in Cuba without doing something about it. That "something" might be going to war or it might be dismissing an official.

But something must be done or there will be a popular explosion on the subject. The form of that explosion is unpredictable, but a wise politician like John Kennedy cannot afford to be caught in a storm.

One thing that could be done would be the publication of Khrushchev's letter to Kennedy which has influenced much thought on the subject of Cuba. This letter was announced but has not been published.

According to many rumors and reports, Khrushchev made it clear beyond doubt that if the United States went into Cuba, Soviet Russia would take Berlin. This could be regarded as an ultimatum if we so chose.

Sooner or later, the United States will be forced to call Khrushchev's bluff. Shall we wait until Cuba takes Key West or Miami or shall we assume that a Soviet Russia will only include the entire Latin American continent in its conquests, leaving North America to its own devices? When an Empire starts rolling, it does not stop until it is stopped. That lesson no poli-

Perhaps nothing would appear the American people more than a reorganization of the CIA and the State Department and the elimination of those who created confusion of policy. A President of the United States stands alone and his policy is his own. He can blame no one for the underlying's mistakes, but he can throw him out.

Loyalty to an individual cannot be stronger than responsibility to the American people. President Harding was ruined by the wrong kind of loyalty.

This is what the President faces and there is no possibility of ducking the Cuban issue. To use a popular cliché, something must be done about it.

The Pennsylvania Story

Righteous Wrath

By Mason Denison
(First Of A Series Of Three)

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's lawmakers would do well to take a good, hard and long look at the State Department of Labor and Industry to see what makes this gangling state agency tick—or rather, perhaps, why it doesn't tick!

Few departments on Capitol Hill seemingly evidence the sloppiness and carelessness in operation; ineptness in administration, and disorganization that evidenced so blatantly by this conglomeration of bureaucrats.

This is the same department that a few years ago it will be recalled, was blown into the open with discovery of a so-called "secret payroll" where a host of political favorites were condoned by virtue of the

Again only a few years ago the Secretary of Labor and Industry could hardly believe their eyes.

Ron Parker's quote: "I don't know what success means do you?"

Success means a great deal only to people who don't have it.

Playwright Jean Kerr announced: "If you're going to be a playwright, write a play, and then if it's not a success, get it produced!"

Yet they were being cited by non-compliance and "faced closure!"

In other instances, school boards were already in the process of carrying out department demands with work under way, in theory with full clearance by the department (via its "little kingdom" district office system — but without knowledge by headquarters here!), with the question naturally arising: what more can we do?

And then there were the parents — who in certainly understandable parental and taxpayer ire, as they noted the "dangerous fire-trap school" their children were attending (at least according to the listing by the Department of Labor and Industry), demanded of local school officials:

"Why are our children being housed in this potential fire danger?"

Local school boards in some sections called special emergency sessions to cope with the local hue and cry — to explain, to apologize, tragically, not for their own misdeeds, but in reality those of the Department of Labor and Industry here in Harrisburg!

By week's end the department was being besieged. The department allowed as how in actuality "about half" of the schools were in compliance with department orders — which the department didn't know about at the time the list was issued!

Harrisburg school districts for example rose up in its wrath and informed the department in no uncertain terms that, in effect it was nuts. The department publicly apologized to that local school district for its previous errors. This is an illustration of the time the list was issued!

But this is only part of the story!

Charles Stackhouse and Harold Hayden entered an aeronautical course in the Glenn L. Martin Corporation. They were enrolled as mechanics.

Stroud Township supervisors announced they would place fire hydrants along N. Fifth Street from the Stroudsburg Borough limits to the Clearview School.

Harvey "Hotsy" Bergman was named assistant life guard at the Stroudsburg swimming pool by the council.

How many remember in 1931 when Miss Esther Mauer was re-signed as English teacher in the Stroudsburg High School to accept employment in Orange, N.J.?

New Hopes For Medicare

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Hope springs eternal and proponents of medical care for the aged under the Social Security system have gained a glimmer of hope thanks to a Republican.

Directly as a result of the carefully leaked intention of Senator Jacob Javits (R., N.Y.) to offer a medical bill of his own as an amendment to another Social Security measure, the House Ways and Means Committee is going to hold hearings on the hotly controversial legislation advocated by President Kennedy.

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), chairman, had slammed the door on such hearings on the ground that the committee is too busy this year. But he has changed his mind, and they will take place at a still-unfixed date later this Spring.

These two backstage developments are hopeful gains for supporters of this legislation, but to what extent remains to be seen.

They may be largely illusory, and amount to very little in the end.

Hearings by the Ways and Means Committee could mean no more than that; merely a proceeding to let off steam.

The line-up in this key group is still 16 to 9 against medical care for the aged as part of the Social Security system. A mini-

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's not often I have a chance to crow "I told you so." In the course of a year of daily pontificating about this and that, naturally I'm bound to hit one right once in a while if only by the law of averages. But I'm always a little startled—as well as gratified—when events prove my point.

In this case, the point was that if you want people to join your club, buy your tickets, or attend your shindigs, you've got to invite them. Personally, that is not as "the public" or as "everyone" but as Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Jones or John Brown.

And look what happened when the Ann Logan Hospital Society sent out letters inviting women to join their group in working for the hospital! 120 new members, that's what happened!

And as Kathryn Wellington was saying at the tea at the hospital yesterday afternoon, they not only got new members but little personal notes on the returns. Some of them expressing their gratitude for being invited to join. Some of them suggesting ways in which they could help. One of them came up with the suggestion that perhaps shut-ins, who couldn't get to the meetings, might enjoy doing the handwork on the sewing that need to be finished at home.

It was a heart-warming response for the membership drive chairmen and for the other members, and will undoubtedly give a big boost to the hospital itself. But it might also be a lesson to the rest of us.

We are not an unfriendly community—but I don't know how newcomers will ever know that since we leave them strictly alone until they make the first advances. Yet what untapped resources for community service, for new friendships, new ideas we overlook that way.

We work our old faithfuls to death, complain about "there's always a few that have to do all the work," when maybe next door there's somebody who wants to help but is too retiring to volunteer. All we have to do is ask.

Arlington PTA Closes School Year

A program combining music and science marked the closing of the school year for the Arlington Parent Teachers Assn.

The science fair represented projects the pupils had done throughout the year.

The music, furnished by a quartette of clarinets under the direction of Rex Harrison, featured seventh graders from Stroud Union: Carolyn Feltham, Susan Halstead, Barbara Duckloe and Cynthia Winters.

New officers were installed by Mrs. Lester Katz, and the PTA voted that the remaining money left from the school parties formerly sponsored by the PTA be used for library books this year.

Giants Thrash Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The San Francisco Giants cemented their hold on first place in the National League Sunday by thrashing the Philadelphia Phillies 7-0 behind home runs of Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey and the seven-hit pitching of Billy Loes.

In doing so, the Giants anchored the Phils in last place and handed the fifth setback of the season to starter Robin Roberts, who has yet to win.

Cepeda's was the big blow, coming with two men on in the sixth—a four-run inning. Jim Davenport had scored earlier on a sacrifice fly.

Alou started the rout with his third home run of the year in the second inning. The Giants made it 2-0 in the fourth when Willie Mays walked, tried to steal second and got all the way to third Dalmatian. He scored on a sacrifice fly.

Twenty-six home runs have been hit in the last six games at Wrigley Field.

Junior Fair To Be Held At YMCA

By JACK CHAPMAN
YMCA Physical Director

A YMCA Junior Fair to be held May 20 invites all boys and girls between the ages of eight and 11 to participate in 10 different activities. Prizes will be awarded according to scores made. All girls should wear shorts or slacks.

Applications are being received for the 5-6 year old loan-to-swim campaign starting May 13. For this program there will be an instructor and a helper for every five or six students. The boys and girls are taught to adjust to the water by a variety of games. When the adjustment is made the swimming progress is fast. Many girls and boys actually are diving off the diving board at the end of the seven-week course.

A course has been planned "on Sale Yourself." This will be a four-week course for adults and families. The course is designed to teach survival techniques in water. A pamphlet outlining the course will be available at the Y.T. Everyone must register for this course.

The pool room will be reopened a few hours in the afternoon and evening due to a large number of requests.

The Canadian trip planned for June 26 still has a few openings; for information, contact the YMCA.

NOT ALL DEER which died since last hunting season were victims of severe Winter weather. Some are killed by poachers. Mrs. John B. Durkee, of 2144 N. Fifth St., came upon this shocking scene Saturday morning while fishing on the Brislin property with her husband and son, Gil. Poachers had evidently killed doe with unborn fawn during the night, dressed the animal and sneaked away with the venison. Sportsmen, did someone say?

Prospects For Salesmen

By William A. Doyle

Q. I have been offered the opportunity of entering the securities business, as a registered representative of one of the best known brokerage houses. From your observations, does the immediate future of the brokerage business appear promising?

D. Securities salesmen usually have big fluctuations in earnings, from year to year? Where can experience in securities salesmanship lead? How important is a "following" in this business?

A. Let's take your questions one at a time.

It's always dangerous for (at least silly) to make any prediction about the immediate prospects for anything in the securities business. Nevertheless, it's fairly safe to say that the brokerage business should continue to be good.

There are now over 15 million stockholders in this country and the number is growing all the time. The volume of stock trading is sky high. There's no immediate letup in sight. That's good—from the brokers' point of view. The brokers collect commissions on those transactions.

In the past, securities salesmen have had severe ups and downs in earnings. When the volume of stock trading is high, they live high on the hog. When trading volume dries up, many of them scratch for a living.

Experience in the business can lead almost anywhere. If your experience is successful, you may wind up as a partner or officer of the brokerage firm or in some other top spot in the financial world—with an income you only dream about today.

A "following" of satisfied customers is important to any salesman—especially one in the securities business. Unless your mighty good or mighty fortunate, it will probably take you a long time to build up that following.

Your letter was a bit unusual.

Lots of people write in asking how they can break into the securities business. You make it sound as if the job is being offered to you on a silver platter.

Here's hoping you realize you have a long period of on-the-job training ahead of you, before you become a registered representative of the campney family.

Landing a job (any job) with a brokerage firm is the all-important first step. Newcomers to the field normally start as office boys, file clerks, etc. Then, if they get into the firm's training program, they can hope for big advancements.

Q. Is it possible for me to buy 10 shares of stock? I am thinking of 10 shares of Greyhound common stock, at 21 $\frac{1}{2}$. How much commission would I be charged?

A. Yes, you can buy 10 shares, or one share, or any number of shares you can afford of most stocks—including Greyhound.

Many people seem to think that stocks must be bought in 100-share lots. That just isn't so.

If your purchase order is filled at 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ (\$21.50 a share) your costs will be as follows: First an odd-lot differential of 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents a share will be tacked on to the purchase price—making it \$21.625 a share. Then you will pay a minimum commission of \$6.

One more thing. If you can buy Greyhound at $21.50 a share, more power to you. As this column goes through the typewriter, its market price is a couple of dollars a share higher than that.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

$1-Billion Work Plan Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported considering a $1-billion public works and training program to aid the unemployed with special emphasis on jobless youth and family breadwinners.

Kennedy's advisers are drafting a new economic message for Congress, due to be sent to Capitol Hill in the next few weeks.

It will review the state of the economy and propose additional steps aimed at reducing the present backlog of nearly 5½ million unemployed. Its goal is understood to be to cut the current unemployment rate of about 7 per cent down to 4 per cent or less.

Shortly after taking office, Kennedy promised to make such a reassessment in 75 days.

Dear Abby

It's Your Turn

Dear Abby: If you had been raised on a farm and milked cows, you would not need to consult a "psychologist" to know why the cow would not let a woman near her. A cow is a very intelligent beast. She doesn't trust anyone with full skirts, loud colors and perfume. Some men could learn a lot from a cow.

FROM IOWA

DEAR FROM: Women who set about to milk cows do not wear full skirts, loud colors and perfume. Some men could learn a lot from a cow.

DEAR ABBY: I was born at 16. It was a "have to" case. I never cared much for children but I had this baby girl to raise. She was always very mean and hateful, and we detested each other. When she was ten, I divorced her father and remarried.

TAXPAYER'S SUIT HEARING MAY 17

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Dauphin County Court has set May 17 for a hearing on a taxpayer's suit seeking to bar legislators from collecting a newly enacted $3,000 a year additional expense allowance.

The petition was filed by Gerald T. Wagner, Glassport, Allegheny County. He contended the legislature violated the state constitution by approving extra reimbursement for representatives and senators effective during their present term in office.

The court hearing, at 2 p.m., will hear argument on a temporary injunction.

The state constitution says, in part, that "no member of either house shall during the term for which he may have been elected, receive any increase of salary or mileage under any law passed during such term."

In discussions on the expense increase, lawmakers contended it was not salary under the constitutional limit. However, the expense allowances are subject to federal income tax.

Lawmakers get $6,000 a year presently in salary. A $1,500 installment on the new expense allowance comes due May 31.

MRS. Gene Beckwith of Brooklyn spent the weekend here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shellenberger. The Shellenbergers also entertained another sister, Mrs. W. Morton Warner of Berwyn for a week.

Miss Carol Beckwith spent some time recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. John R. Staples. Their guest was from Brooklyn.

Since the birthdays of Mrs. Nora Rosata of Bangor and of Mrs. Blanche Gardner of New York City come only two days apart though they were born in different years, they celebrated together Friday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Leffler. They were joined at the dinner party by a third sister, Mrs. Francis Martin.

Later celebrations were held in their home towns with their husbands.
